99.8% of CEOs and CFOs want their real estate costs flexible.

And 60% say AI has made it harder to predict how much office they will need in two years.

Is the 10-year lease over?

Gabriele Maffezzini
Project & Development, EMEA

Source: IWG CEO and CFO survey, reported by Urban Living News, Jul 2026

Enterprises are the new flex tenants.

The world's largest flex operator is growing through partnerships with landlords, and big companies drive demand.

728
new IWG locations signed in H1 2026, a record

95%
of them through managed partnership agreements

x2
India's flex stock by 2030, to about 180m sq ft

75-85%
of that demand comes from enterprise clients

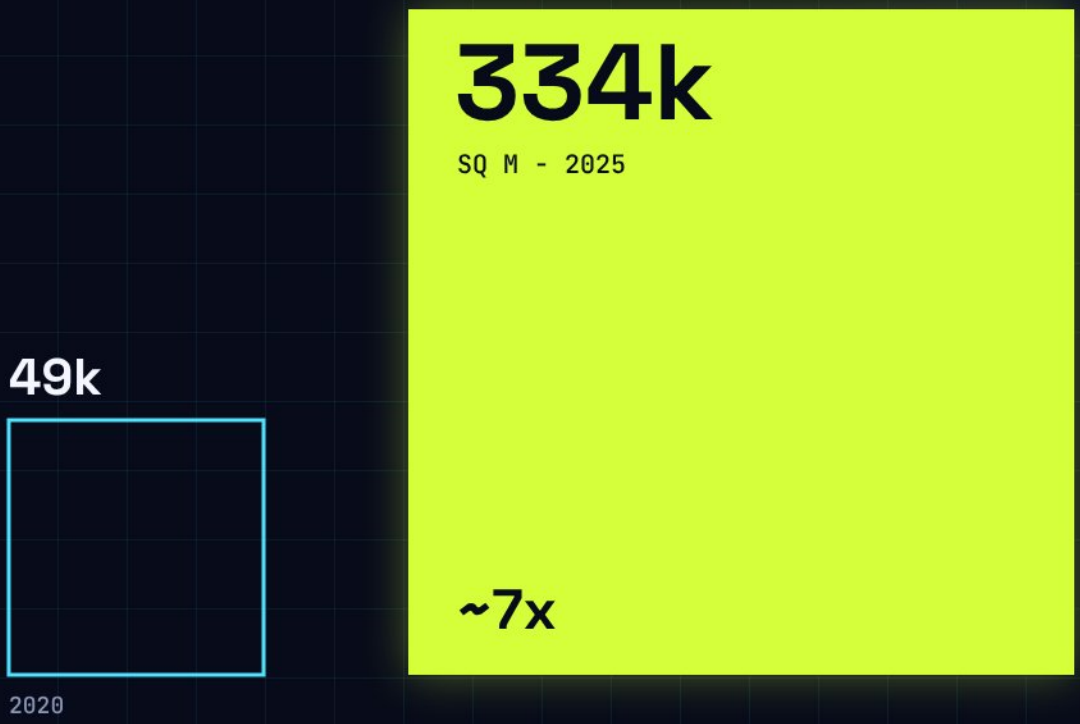

Gabriele Maffezzini
Project & Development, EMEA

Sources: IWG via Allwork.Space, Oct 2026; India flex office market research, Oct 2026

From hot desks to branded floors.

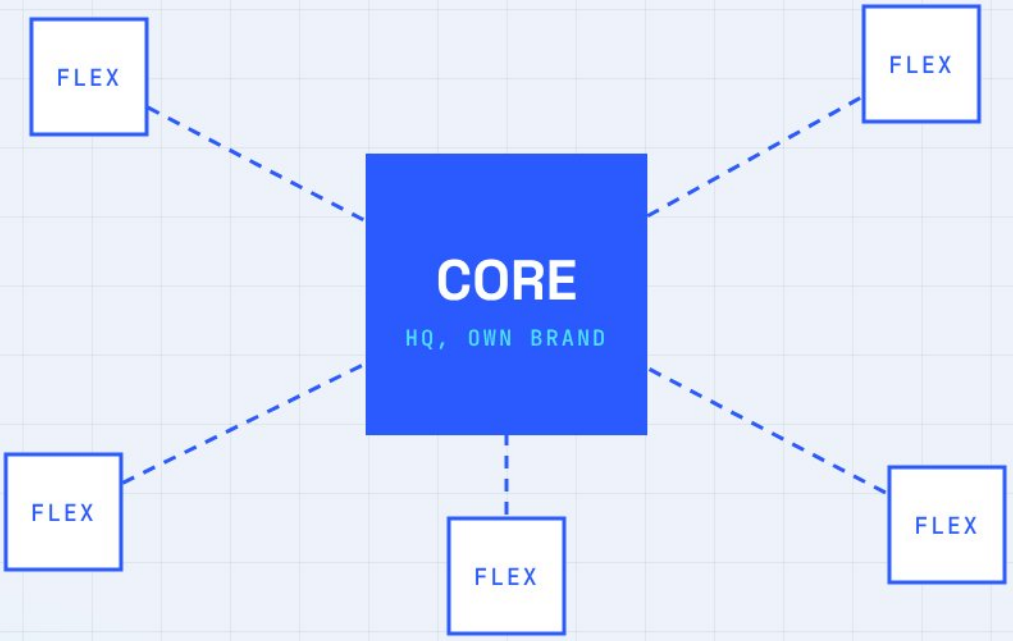

In London, managed offices grew about 7x in five years. 3 in 4 new users came from serviced offices.

Gabriele Maffezzini
Project & Development, EMEA

Source: London managed office market research, via Allwork.Space, Aug 2026. Squares to scale.

One core HQ. Flexible space around it.

57%

are investing in hybrid arrangements

55%

are opening locations closer to where staff live

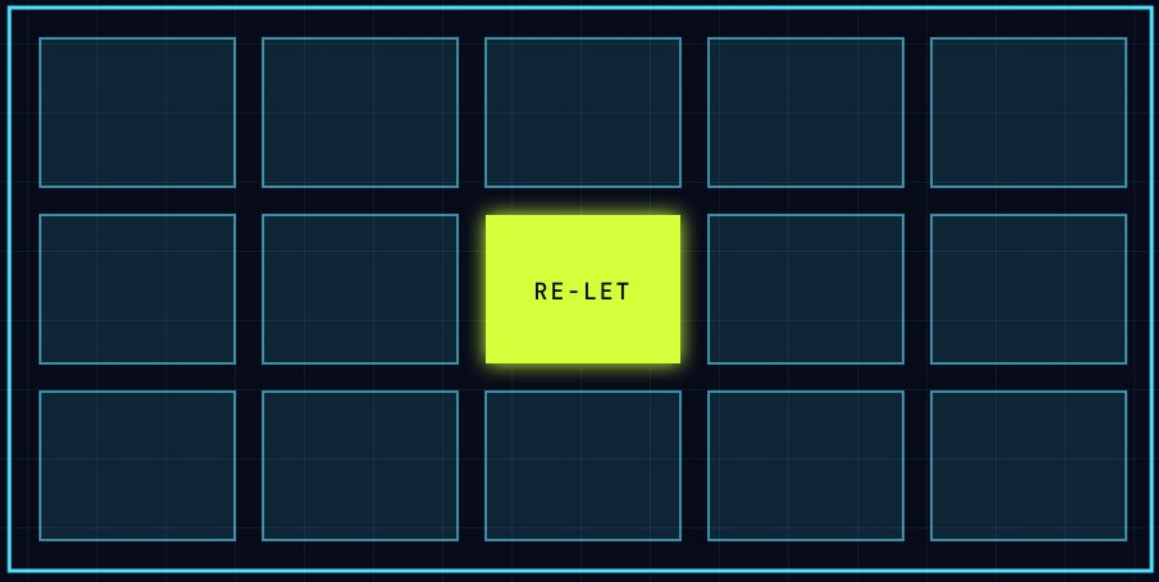

Gabriele Maffezzini
Project & Development, EMEA

Source: IWG CEO and CFO survey, reported by Urban Living News, Jul 2026

The fit-out outlives the tenant.

When landlords and operators commission the fit-out, it has to be fast, branded for one client and easy to reconfigure for the next.

Gabriele Maffezzini
Project & Development, EMEA

Illustrative layout

Less commitment. More fit-outs.

Fast
weeks, not months

Branded
the client's identity

Modular
ready for the next tenant

Would you sign a 10-year lease today?

Tell me how your company is deciding.

Gabriele Maffezzini
Project & Development, EMEA